

TEACHER SUBJECT SPECIALISM TRAINING IN MATHEMATICS
JANUARY TO JUNE 2019
BITTERNE PARK TEACHING SCHOOL

Following previous successful and oversubscribed training programmes in the past two academic years, Bitterne Park School is offering free, fully funded Subject Specialism Training in Mathematics running from January 2019 to June 2019.

Sessions will run from 2.15pm – 4.45pm, with one all-day session from 9.00am – 3.00pm.

This course would be ideal for teachers looking to enhance their subject knowledge of mathematics for continuing professional development and possible career enhancement.

Our training programme is delivered by an experienced mathematics lead teacher, and includes:

- ✓ helpful face-to-face training sessions
- ✓ links with professional organisations
- ✓ online training
- ✓ gap tasks
- ✓ resources and lesson ideas

The programme is aimed at teachers who are:

- ✓ currently teaching mathematics as a non-specialist
- ✓ currently teaching other subjects but would like to teach mathematics in the future
- ✓ a specialist teacher of mathematics, planning to return to teaching after a career break
- ✓ primary teachers of mathematics

Please could you pass this information to anyone who you know who may be interested. There is also a PDF for you to circulate.

Please ask potential participants to email us at teaching.schools@bitterneparkschool.org.uk for further information and an application form. Details of training dates/times are shown on the attached PDF.
